WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO YOUTHFUL REBELLION?

A recent newspaper article complained that British teenagers are no longer interested in politics or radical ideas. Looking back to British Movement's street-fighting days of the late 1970's and early 1980's, there was a criticism from many observers that the bulk of BM's membership were under-25 years of age.

Certainly there was a strong youth activist base in those years on both the racial Nationalist scene and on the extreme-Left of British politics.

So why do British teenagers no longer get involved in political campaigns in the same numbers today? On the racial Nationalist side of the fence it seems that British youth (the under-18's) have been so immersed in multi-culturalism and multi-racial propaganda that they cannot envisage a Britain that once was only White. Not only have British youth been overwhelmed by the multi-culturalist message, brain-washed into believing that 'racism' is the greatest evil and that any kind of White racial Nationalism is wrong. But they are also submerged in the materialism of the mass media and consumerism; celebrity culture and the 'wannabe' famous society. Add to this the toxic effect of the popularity of 'street-drugs' and so-called 'legal-highs' on British teenagers and young adults.

Popular culture has promoted the use of cocaine by working-class White youth over the past two decades and 'pills and powders' haunt most town-centre venues unchallenged. A young BMWD (British Movement Women's Division) supporter recently complained that she could not go into a pub or club in her local town without someone asking her if she was a 'Party-Girl' and did she want to 'score some party drugs?'

Are British youth too 'out of it' to care anymore?

This is exactly what the System wants.

A compliant, docile population only interested in the 'Bread and Circuses' the System provides.

BRITISH YOUTH MUST FIGHT BACK!

When So-Called 'Democratic' Governments Start to Panic
In recent issues of the 'Werewolf Column' we have stressed to our readers how a 'democracy' can slide into a repressive, anti-Nationalist state when the people of the country start to oppose the ruling elite and their politics.
A 'Democratic' Western Government will not tolerate any kind of challenge to 'their' power base. Their state security apparatus will go into over-drive and in turn will feed the paranoid fantasies of Government ministers.

Risk of 'lone wolf' terrorist attack growing

By Tom Whithead, Security Editor

THE threat of an Anders Breivik-style Right-wing attack in Britain is growing, the Home Secretary suggested yesterday. Theresa May said that extra resources had been put into monitoring the risk from Right-wing extremists, especially from a "lone wolf" fanatic.

She said concern had grown in the wake of the Norway attacks in July last year when Breivik slaughtered 77 people, mostly teenagers.

The spread of violent Right-wing unrest amid the euro crisis, especially in Greece and Spain, has also increased fears, intelligence sources said.

In evidence to the Commons joint committee on the national security strategy, Mrs May said: "We've had increased focus on Right-wing groups in the last year or so, particularly since the Breivik incident in Norway. It's still the case that we're likely to see a lone actor on the basis of Right-wing extremism."

Right-wing extremism is seen as a domestic rather than an international threat. It is understood that all bodies involved tackling extremism have been told to give it more focus, including the intelligence and security agencies, such as MI5, as well as the police and other organisations working on the Government's Prevent strategy.

Work aimed at people who may be vulnerable to Islamic extremism is also being used to stop others being recruited by Right-wing fanatics.

This item appeared in the 'Daily Telegraph' 18th December 2012

According to a statement by the Home Secretary Theresa May, the British government has increased its surveillance on "Right-wing groups", because it fears a Breivik-type 'lone-wolf attack' in Britain.

The Home Secretary justified this by saying, "We have increased focus on Right-wing groups in the last year or so, particularly since the Breivik incident in Norway."

This government paranoia about a growth of racial Nationalist resistance has further grown because, "The spread of violent Right-wing unrest amid the euro crisis, especially in Greece and Spain, has also increased fears."

So there lies the real truth behind increased surveillance and police raids on racial Nationalist activists, the ruling Tory/Lib-Dem/Labour elite are in a state of panic because their great European Union (EU) experiment is starting to fall apart and in Greece particularly, the rise of the pro-NS Golden Dawn has really upset their 'democratic' sensibilities. So to prevent anything like that happening in Britain, the government orders the security services of Special Branch, MI5 and assorted 'unofficial' assets to crack down 'democratically' on signs of British Nationalist or British National Socialist opposition.

THE ULSTER GAZETTE - Thursday, 13th December, 2012

by HAZEL HAMMOND

THE President of Tanderagee Royal British Legion has expressed his disgust after a Nazi SS flag was erected on an electricity pylon outside the town last week.

Paul Howlands said the Ulster Gazette, he had been forced to remove the flag after it was placed some 20 metres up the pylon, on the Armagh Road.

"It's totally disgusting. If somebody wants to protest there are better ways to do it. I am not a fascist. I don't know who was responsible for it. They want their flag back, they can collect it from the local police station."

He said the flag was erected on a 20 metres high electricity pylon, close to Tanderagee was "concerning".

The flag, which appeared as a Swastika, was some 20 metres high. It was erected on a 20 metres high electricity pylon, close to Tanderagee was "concerning".

MULTI-RACIAL MADNESS

Broadsword looks at the stories and incidents drawn from across the media in Britain that best illustrate the depths into which our country has sunk as the Government, the media, the police and the Race Relations industry conspire against the indigenous British people to impose a multi-cultural society on Britain. How British culture, values and traditions are undermined by political correctness, minority interests and racial equality. Stories which reveal the harsh reality of life in a multi-cultural Britain and the betrayal of the White British majority population.

THE POISONOUS SIDE-EFFECTS OF MULTI-CULTURALISM AND 'DIVERSITY' ANOTHER BUNCH OF RABID 'HOME-GROWN' JIHADISTS CONVICTED OF TERRORISM.

How Do the Defenders of 'Community Cohesion' Explain the Benefits To British Society of These Ideas?

The front page of a national newspaper tells it all; these three jihadists were just the key players in a much bigger group, all born in the UK and the majority of them raised and educated in the West Midlands. one of them is a graduate of Aston University, another was a law student at the University of Wolverhampton, all had benefited from the British education system. Yet, it was revealed in court just how much these three men hated the British way of life, hated British working-class people and their British working-class culture. A recorded conversation played in court heard would-be terrorist Irfan Khalid saying, "This is going to kick them all, the infidels that go to the pub and that..."

This case has successfully exposed the multiculturalist lie that there is mutual respect between communities, and that the British people should learn to 'embrace' and 'celebrate' diversity. As with other cells of 'home-grown' jihadists, these men were born, bred and educated in Britain, but despite all the benefits they had enjoyed by living in the UK, they despised the British culture that had educated them, provided them with free NHS treatment and social welfare. Instead they travelled to Pakistan and Afghanistan to train in al-Qaeda camps, and returned to plan attacks in the UK.

Broadsword asks the obvious questions: If they hated Britain and the British way of life so much, why did they not just stay in Pakistan or Afghanistan and live the lifestyle they loved and respected so much?

MANY TIMES BROADSWORD HAS REMINDED ITS READERS HOW THE DEFENDERS OF MASS THIRD WORLD IMMIGRATION INTO BRITAIN TELL US THAT THE INTEGRATION OF NON-EUROPEAN PEOPLES INTO BRITAIN 'ENRICHES' OUR SOCIETY AND CULTURE.... White Britons are now a minority in 4 towns and cities

By Anil Dawar

THREE major towns and cities have seen their white British population fall to a minority, mirroring that of London. And other population centres are set to follow.

The white British proportion is officially below 50 per cent in Leicester, Luton and Slough.

Analysts said the same will be true of the country's second city, Birmingham, by the end of the decade.

The researchers at Manchester University attribute the shifting balance to the wave of eastern European migration fostered by the previous Labour government.

Their analysis of the 2011 UK Census shows Slough has the smallest proportion of white Britons at just 35 per cent.

Dismayed

Indians and Pakistanis make up half of the Berkshire town's foreign contingent.

The populations of Leicester and Luton are both 45 per cent white British.

Leicester's second largest ethnic group is Indians who make up a third of the city's residents. In Luton, one in five residents is Pakistani or Bangladeshi.

The overall white population tops 50 per cent in Leicester and Luton when Eastern European and Irish communities are added but no ethnic group is in the majority in any of the three cities or towns.

Alp Mehmet, of MigrationWatch, said: "When you look at the consequences of this kind of change long term the public will be dismayed and will be worried. This has happened as a direct result of Labour's policy of mass migration which was based upon the country without any thought for the future effects."

The immigrant population of England and Wales has grown by three million in the past 10 years and contributed massively to the changing face of modern Britain.

Slough, Berkshire, has the smallest proportion of white Britons, at just 35 per cent, according to figures from the 2011 Census.

The east London borough of Newham is shown to be the most diverse local authority area in the country with a white British population of just 17 per cent.

Of Newham's 208,000 residents, just 143,000 were born in the UK. And of those, only 52,000 declared themselves white British.

Of 18 different ethnic groups within the borough, 17 have populations of more than 1,000.

And of the 165,414 born abroad, 47 per cent arrived since 2004 - when the EU expanded to take in eight former Soviet states in eastern Europe.

In neighbouring Tower Hamlets, the 32,000-strong Bangladeshi population is the largest group outnumbering white Britons by 2,000. It BROADSWORD Believes That Reality Is Even Worse!

This article appeared in the Daily Express on 11th January 2013

A quote from the organisation Migration Watch summed it up,

"This has happened as a direct result of Labour's policy of mass migration which foisted upon the country without any thought for the future effects."

What an understatement !

GUESS WHO SAID THIS

" Our major cities are majority ethnic minority and yet the police force remains stubbornly white."

STUBBORNLY WHITE!

These comments were made by Metropolitan Police Chief Superintendent Dal Babu, one of the most senior Asian police officers in the UK and until he retired in February 2013, the police commander for the London borough of Harrow.

Someone should point out to Dal Babu that although some British towns and cities have been colonised by non-whites, the majority population of the UK remains, for the present at least, stubbornly White British.

You can be sure that had someone from a White Nationalist organisation remarked on a part of British society being stubbornly black or Asian, the complaints would have poured in about 'hate speech' and prosecution demanded.

It is a sad reflection of multi-culturalism that people have been allowed to settle in OUR country and then begin to dictate how our customs, systems and laws must change to suit them.

However, we hope that Broadsword readers will note Dal Babu's observation that Britain's major cities are now dominated by ethnic minority populations.

PETERBOROUGH Gladstone Primary School

450 pupils - none of them have English as their first language. 80% of the children are Pakistani.

There are 20 different languages in the school other than English; the only White children are Polish, Lithuanian, Russian, Slovakian and Czech. Other languages include Punjabi, Gujarati, Dari, Pashto, Kurdish, Arabic, and Africanised French.

Not just multi-racial but multi-lingual.
Where are the White British children in this part of Peterborough ?

IMMIGRATION and Multi-Culturalism

Not just a threat to Britain, Europe and the White World.

Does This Sound Familiar ?

Singapore

February 18th 2013 - over 4,000 protesters on the streets of Singapore, angry at the pro-immigration policies of the ruling Peoples' Action Party (PAP).

Singapore's population is predicted to grow by 30% from 5.3 million to 6.9 million by 2030.

This is mostly through foreign workers, as Singapore itself has a low birth rate.

Opponents of immigration say that the island state is too crowded. They blame a flood of foreign workers and their families over recent years; creating stagnant wages, high rents, over-crowding, housing shortages and rising house prices. They say that continued immigration will change the very nature of Singapore.

Singaporeans make up 62% of the island's population, but the PAP Government has announced plans to grant citizenship to between 15,000 and 25,000 foreign workers. So by 2030 Singaporeans will only make up 55% of the population of their own country. Tan Jee Say, a former senior civil servant is now an opposition politician and part of the anti-immigration movement.

He accuses the PAP Government of being obsessed with economic growth at any price and that the PAP is ignoring the social costs of immigration.

Does this sound familiar ?

A government obsessed with economic growth, that encourages immigration and a flood of cheap foreign workers?

Official Figures at the end of 2012 show that there are an estimated

900,000 illegal immigrants in the UK

As many as 600,000 illegal immigrants are thought to be working in the so-called 'black economy', that means they pay no income tax, no National Insurance contributions and many are thought to be involved in criminal activity; drug dealing, prostitution, people smuggling, gang related lifestyles.

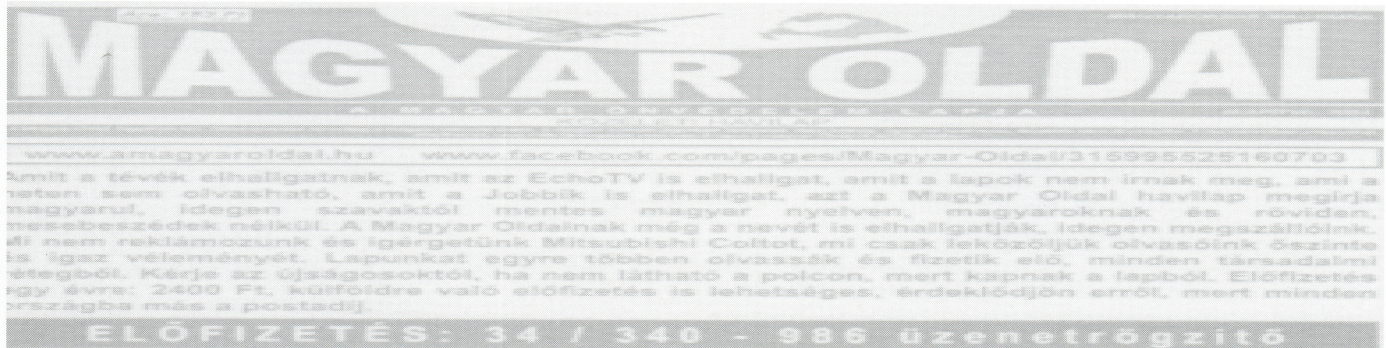

Immigration continues despite all the Conservative party election promises and now Britain is on the brink of new waves of immigration from Romania and Bulgaria.

"In Hungary the life here is very hard, terrible and violent. The government is full of Jews and their slaves, they persecute National Socialist ideas and make anti-discrimination laws. But the Hungarian people are very anti-semitic, Hungarians hate the Jews and the Bankers!

At the moment the government is attacking us, the Hungarians, by biological methods- it's race-mixing! Immigrants - negroes from Africa, rice-boilers from China, Arabs, Pakistanis, and of course lots of Jews.

Our very big problem is the gypsies. They terrorize the Hungarians, especially in the country villages.

But Hungary still resists! We fight against Marxism, liberalism, Freemasonry, feminism, homo-sexuality, drug-dealing and other degeneration!

The new quarterly magazine from the Golden Dawn, called 'Meandros', it is a political, historical and cultural publication. Well written and professionally produced, it is recommended to those who can read Greek.

Note to Broadsword readers:-

In issue 45 of Broadsword we reported on the increased numbers of immigrants being deported from Athens and other parts of Greece as the Greek Government seeks to counter the problem of illegal immigration.

Our Golden Dawn correspondent has asked Broadsword to correct this impression.

"A major crackdown on illegal immigrants by police in Athens.....It's all a government scam and there was no significant deportations of illegal immigrants, perhaps a few hundred in all. It's all a media trick and cheap propaganda in order to stop the meteoric rise of GOLDEN DAWN.

What is 500, a 1,000 or 3,000 deportations when there are millions of illegal immigrants here, and more and more entering our homeland on a daily basis as our borders are completely unguarded?

It has officially and repeatedly admitted by the System that one of its major priorities is to limit or even banish our Movement."

BRITISH SOCIETY IN 2013 SOMETHING BETTER CHANGE!

Contrary to What Our Political Opponents Say British Movement is Not Promoting Hatred For Any Particular Racial Group or Ethnic Minority; Our National Socialist Programme is About Ensuring the Survival and Preservation of the White British Population, British Culture, British Traditions and British Heritage and the White British Identity.

14 WORDS:- We Must Secure the Existence of Our People and a Future For White Children

The Sunwheel stands above a British Movement Winter Solstice bonfire on December 21st 2012

Restoring the traditional celebrations and festivals of our Folk is part of our National Socialist programme.

A return to our cultural heritage will help our people preserve our racial and national identity, and sets us apart from the non-British, non-Aryan colonisers of our country.

Is This A SWAT team in Action in Los Angeles ?

No it is the Hampshire Police Armed Response team arresting members of a multi-racial drug gang on the streets of Southampton in July 2012 as part of Operation Fortress,

This armed police action recovered £40,000 in cash, plus a massive quantity of heroin and crack cocaine.

Sadly this scene could take place in any major town or city across the United Kingdom. Recreational drugs have become the curse of the White British working-class.

British Movement is a National Socialist organisation working towards the creation of a National Socialist counter-culture in Britain, building up a National Socialist alternative than will eventually lead to the creation of a grass-roots N.S mass movement and ultimately a National Socialist Folk Community.

Where BM Stands

14 Words

"We must secure the existence of our people and a future for White children."

We cannot build the National Socialist Folk Community in one generation, we must look towards a long term strategy and build for the future, we must draw young people into the ranks of our Movement because they will be the standard-bearers of tomorrow, they will carry the torch of resurgent British National Socialism as the guiding light for our people into the New Dawn.

Youth is the Way Forward

Hatred will not build our mass NS movement, but the will of our people and the determination to ensure the survival of the White British and the love of our Folk will bind our people together into the Folk Community on which a National Socialist Britain will be created.

IS LONDON A LOST CAUSE?

Between 2002 and 2012 600,000 White British people moved out of London - Office for National Statistics

If that isn't evidence of people voting with their feet on living in a multi-racial, multi-cultural city then what is it?

Why are our politicians ignoring the evidence ?

The Establishment has failed the British people.

Ever since the Empire Windrush docked in Britain in 1948 the three major political parties have sold out the British people on immigration and the colonisation of our country by non-white people. The Trade Unions have colluded and collaborated in selling-out the White working-class people of this country by conning them into accepting the surplus population of the Third World as 'fellow-workers'. Look no further for evidence of this than the Trade Unions campaigns on behalf of asylum-seekers and illegal immigrants.

The political elite of this country, shaped by the leftist politics of the 1960's have repeatedly pushed the agenda of a multi-racial Britain. The Marxist Left and their liberal allies like to describe their politics as 'progressive'. There is nothing 'progressive' about the destruction of Britain's traditions, heritage and culture.

The most fanatical elements on the 'progressive' Left dream of a future Britain where the White, Anglo-Saxon, Celtic British have disappeared; the country is populated by a population of coffee coloured, dark eyed, black - haired mixed race who speak a language that is no longer English, but is a mixture of a TV inspired 'Mockney - english', heavily influenced with Jamaican patois, Urdu, and Polish, not forgetting Black- American ghetto rap, Gujarati and some Arabic and West African words.

That is a future for Britain that as British National Socialists we cannot and will not accept!

BRITISH MOVEMENT REFUSES TO ACCEPT THAT LONDON IS A LOST CAUSE

If the White British People accept this as a defeat, then in the future they will accept the loss of Birmingham, Leicester, Luton, Bradford, Blackburn, and on and on.

This sense of defeat is what our Left-wing enemies are counting on. This acceptance of the triumph of a multi-racial future is what the multi-culturalists want because that means the fight has gone out of the White British and resistance to a multi-racial future has ended,

It means that 'They' have won.

BRITISH MOVEMENT REFUSES TO ACCEPT THIS!

As National Socialists we must fight on and if need be we must exist to resist, as the Blood and Honour organisation puts it so well.

WE WILL HAVE OUR COUNTRY BACK !

What did they think was going to happen
when the non-white, Islamic population

Out of an estimated population in London of 8.17 million people, the White British estimated to be over 1 million muslims, the vast majority of whom are not white

IN DEFENCE OF NATIONALISM

by S V Holroyd

The Article Below Originally Appeared In The Magazine
'Northern World' in Spring 1960.

This was a time when Third World Immigration Into Britain and Europe was first entering the political agenda. It was in the immediate aftermath of the Notting Hill race riots of 1958 and the outbreak of swastika daubings across the UK in 1959 and 1960. The thoughts raised in this article are just as relevant today, even more so in light of the unbroken waves of immigration that continue to flood our homeland with the surplus populations of Africa, Asia, the Caribbean, and South America, over half a century after this article was written.

During and after the British race riots and recent swastika paintings, quite a lot was said about 'Nationalism' in press reports, and certain quarters endeavoured to portray all Nationalists and Racialists as brutal extremists. Loudest to denounce any kind of Nationalism was international socialism - but this was only to be expected, Socialist philosophy aims to dominate the world and enslave mankind in a world state.

Socialism realises that to do this effectively it must first liquidate all folk-entities, i.e. races. Obviously, Nationalism of any kind means that a folk will oppose liquidation. Pride of race and inheritance, awareness of national culture, loyalties to folk and land, all means a stubborn refusal to be rolled into a single, world-wide socialist state.

The international socialists realise that Nationalism can be extinguished by means other than warfare.

Their protagonists in consequence exploit 'humanitarian' ideals to encompass the utter and complete mongrelisation of our race. The Nationalist is fully aware of this effort, and his philosophy, based as it is on reason, appeals to an increasing number as time goes by. It is openly recognised that in the last few years, there has been a swing towards the Nationalist viewpoint as people attune themselves to the constant stream of internationalist brainwashing which is now common to all media of public information and entertainment.

Mongrelisation brings with it a lowering of the traditional strict standards of morals and behaviour, and this begets other evils such as the break up of family life (the basis of folk loyalty), increase in crime, especially in young people, disregard for life and property, confused philosophies, debased arts, and irresponsibility of actions.

It is easier to 'level down' than to 'raise up', and it is often easier to be weak than strong. Thus we see the two vast differences in Socialism and Nationalism. In the latter the accent is on the survival of the best, the fittest and the strongest, as decreed by nature through evolutionary selection. Socialism seeks to make sure that the weakest and the unfittest survive, and thereby endangers the welfare of posterity.

Socialism and humanitarianism welcome with open arms the present day influx of aliens from all parts of the world. Immigration will help their plans by destroying national resistance; negroid and asiatic immigrants pour into a white man's country. Their outlook, beliefs, culture, and way of life is not ours - why fool oneself that it is ?

Long ago Scandinavian, Teutonic and Keltic peoples, ethnically related in both race and culture, easily and naturally settled down together without upsetting the natural pattern of things. The modern immigrant to our homelands is quite another thing. He has usually no racial connections, not even if he 'glories' in the label 'British', 'Dutch' or 'French'. That they come here because conditions are better than in their own lands, may be true. That fact is of no consolation to the Nordic now hotly resenting this uncontrolled flood of immigrant peoples of different races and cultures, who will, in the near future, unconsciously or consciously widen the schism which already exists between them and us.

Forced immigration (as promised by international socialism if it eventually seizes power) is the last resort of governments, when voluntary integration fails to take place. We must therefore protest against mongrelisation at once, before our legal right to do so is taken away from us, and our printing presses are closed, as the socialists in Britain have threatened. It is not only our liberty that is at stake, but the liberty of mankind. The rights of the individual are protected by local and national independence, and without group independence there can be no personal independence. International socialism means world dictatorship, the rule of small power cliques behind the scenes.

The Nationalist is not, as fondly imagined, anti-this and anti-that. He is pro-this and pro-that, which is very different. He wishes to preserve individual and group freedom. He believes in living at peace with others, but any folk family is entitled to racial and cultural privacy and survival. The Nationalist is fighting for those natural rights today.

THE BBC - BROADCASTING FOR WHOM ACTUALLY ? Broadcasting for the Nation ? Or Broadcasting for the Establishment?

The BBC is often represented as the news service that best reflects the opinions and attitudes of Britain as a nation. It claims that it follows a policy of 'balanced' reporting, reflecting what is actually happening and taking into account all sides of a situation and honestly representing the views and opinions of those involved.

Most active British nationalists would heartily disagree.

The BBC management at all levels is influenced by the soft-liberals and cultural Marxists who grew out of the Left-wing dominated universities of the late 1960's and early 1970's.

Their commitment is to a pro-Left-wing, so called 'progressive' political outlook and they shape BBC television and radio programmes to this shared agenda

The BBC has tried to influence the way the British people speak, to restructure our everyday language and has collaborated with race relations think tanks to 'outlaw' certain words and phrases, to make certain words and phrases not only unfashionable but 'objectionable', this is especially true of words used by ordinary working class people to describe people of other races, or homosexuals.

The BBC has been at the forefront of protecting the sensibilities of every form of minority from being offended by words in common usage.

Frequently BBC senior managers will directly instruct news staff about the use of specific words and the BBC policy on what can and cannot be said on camera or on radio; in 2005 after the July 7th attacks in London, the BBC's then head of news, Helen Boarden, was reported to have sent a memo to script writers and news staff instructing them that, "the word 'terrorist' can be a barrier rather than an aid to understanding".

Unbelievably this position was supposed to help take the heat off the fact that the bombers were Muslims drawn from members of Asian communities resident in the UK. Boarden was actually suggesting that the news teams should try to generate a level of understanding as to why these people should resort to such actions in Britain.

Other examples of 'politically correct' influence on the language used in BBC news reports was in the initial coverage of the urban riots in England during the summer of 2011. News broadcasts early in the riots described the rioters and looters as 'protestors'.

In 2012 the same Helen Boarden was publicly criticised for her handling of the scandal around Jimmy Savile and sex abuse reports, unbelievably Helen Boarden remains in a senior BBC management position with direct responsibility for reporting news.

More recently the BBC was heavily criticised by a number of Tory MP's over its coverage of the jihadi attack and killing of hostages at a gas facility in Algeria. The BBC insisted on referring to the jihadist killers as 'militants' rather than 'terrorists'.

The BBC senior management agonised over the decision when BNP leader Nick Griffin was proposed for inclusion on the BBC current affairs programme 'Question Time' in October 2009 this decision was openly challenged by the extreme-Left who demanded to know why the BBC had not followed the established principle of 'No Platform for Fascists', which most journalists and media outlets accepted.

Although the BBC will often claim to be independent of government interference and will publicly champion freedom of the press, news stories often receive a particular political slant and reflect a leftist/ liberal or a 'politically correct' position.

Interestingly, in January 2013 where other news channels and networks were reporting in some detail on the Israeli air attacks on targets in Syria, the BBC gave this a minimum of coverage. Why ?

The BBC is a key component of the British political establishment and is also a guardian and proponent of centre-left attitudes and multi-culturalism.

It defends the politics of the Establishment and acts as a propaganda outlet for those who want to lead our people into a multi-racial future.

PASSING ON THE BATON

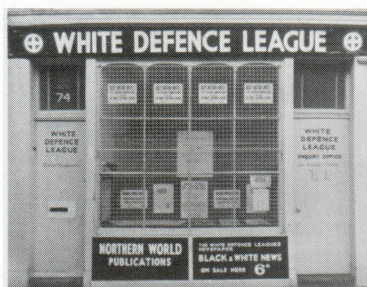

Continuing the Broadsword series on the founding figures of British National Socialism

Colin Jordan - the White Defence League, the original British National Party, the NSM and the early years of British Movement

Pictured opposite: Colin Jordan addressing a British Movement election meeting at Wulfrun Hall, Wolverhampton, October 1971.

In issue 45 of Broadsword the first article in this series explored the role of Arnold Leese and Colin Jordan in the revival of post-1945 British racial Nationalism, and the re-generation of British National Socialism.

In 1958 Colin Jordan launched the White Defence League in Notting Hill, London.

The WDL was created at a time of increasing racial tensions in London as thousands of black immigrants arrived in the city, mostly from the West Indies.

An outbreak of serious racially motivated riots in Notting Hill in 1958 gave the impetus for the establishment of the WDL. Colin Jordan had very recently acquired premises at 74 Princedale Road, in the Notting Hill area, a gift of the widow of Arnold Leese. From here Colin Jordan sought to make race and immigration key issues in British politics.

In 1960 Colin Jordan came together with Nationalist activists John Bean, John Tyndall and Andrew Fountaine to launch the original British National Party (BNP). The BNP was a merger of the WDL and the National Labour Party (NLP).

Unfortunately after two years of racial Nationalist campaigning by the BNP, Mr Bean and Fountaine found that they could not work with Colin Jordan, who sought a more ideologically based organisation.

Together with John Tyndall, Denis Pirie and others, in April 1962 Colin Jordan openly declared a National Socialist programme, founding the NSM, (National Socialist Movement). As with both the WDL and the BNP, the offices at 74 Princedale Road were central to the organisations public face and its office administration.

Colin Jordan launched an avalanche of NS leaflets, posters, stickers and other publications from the NSM building. There was massive national and international media interest in the NSM and its overtly National Socialist platform.

Why I am a National Socialist

AND WHY YOU SHOULD BE TOO

By Colin Jordan

DEMOCRACY, the falsest of all things, is the enemy of the race. It has made me a National Socialist, bringing me to me in that system which it has opposed and defamed as brutalistic, which represented Germany 30 years ago, the only means of saving Britain from extinction today.

In the 1930s, when I was a boy at school, our country was the head of the greatest empire the world has ever seen, containing within its borders almost every material resource it required, and virtually capable of self-sufficiency. Her natural ally was the great brother-nation of Germany.

Together they would have been invincible: not power, Communism, or Capitalism could have jeopardised them. United in peace, Britain, applying herself to the betterment of her people, could have achieved a fabulous prosperity, alongside the reborn Germany with its massive social and economic achievement.

Instead, our democratic politicians, responsive to Jewish pressure, initiated British racialism, and set us to war against her in 1939 for inadequate British racialism. At the present rate of folly, in our history and for a state British race and democracy were thrown away on a universal scale in democracy's mad war. This, the politicians promised, was necessary to secure our freedom and our heritage. After three years of freedom in the full sense, our heritage, the true tradition of our nation, has been completely betrayed by these politicians of democracy.

As a direct result of the war, in which democratic Britain allied herself to the Soviet Union against anti-Communist Germany, Communism took over Eastern Europe and became the menace it is today to Britain and the rest of Western Europe.

Our empire, the monumental creation of our forefathers for our power and prosperity, has been given up piece by piece, and, as the final degradation, we have today the spectacle of our present ministers retiring to their own White House, in Rhodesia, to submit to Black domination.

Britain has relinquished her breadth of empire and her national sovereignty for membership of and subordination to the cosmopolitan United Nations.

'White Power' was first promoted by the American National Socialist activist George Lincoln Rockwell. 'White Power' became a recurring theme of British racial Nationalism in the 1970's.

"What we must fight for is to safeguard the existence and reproduction of our race and our people, the sustenance of our children and the purity of our blood, the freedom and independence of the fatherland, so that our people may mature for the fulfillment of the mission allotted it by the creator of the universe."

This is a Book That Lifts the Lid On How 'Democratic' Britain Defends its Interests.

'Cruel Britannia' examines the use of torture by British 'security services' from the Second World War to the present day. It is an unsettling insight into how these things are done.

In the summer of 1962 Colin Jordan joined forces with the American NS leader George Lincoln Rockwell to establish an international National Socialist network, the World Union of National Socialists (WUNS). The NSM in Britain remained the British section of WUNS until 1968, when Colin Jordan dissolved the NSM under pressure from new Race Relations laws, and in July 1968 launched a new organisation, British Movement (BM).

Throughout his previous political campaigns, Colin Jordan had used the Sunwheel as an emblem for his organisations, apart from the NSM which had principally used the swastika, with the Sunwheel in a secondary role. For British Movement he re-introduced the Sunwheel as the main emblem, and also incorporated Britain's national colours of red, white and blue into the BM livery.

Race and anti-immigration campaigning was at the heart of BM policies, as well as traditional NS themes of anti-Communism and anti-Zionism. Although BM was no longer part of the WUNS, Colin Jordan retained strong links with the NS organisations in the USA and brought into the UK the theme of 'White Power' and made it a key part of the BM agenda across the 1970's.

During this early period of British Movement, Colin Jordan and other BM activists regularly stood as candidates in elections; both local and national elections.

Race and immigration was always the main platform, with overt National Socialist ideology taking a secondary role.

Colin Jordan retired from British Movement in 1975.

CRUEL BRITANNIA

The Broadsword office team were somewhat surprised when a copy of this book was sent to us by a National Socialist contact. Here it was thought that imprisonment without trial, detention in secret locations and torture where tactics used against serious enemies of our Nation like the Taliban, the IRA, the EOKA terrorists in Cyprus in the 1960's, the 'Mau Mau' in 1950's Kenya.

Not so. Something every British National Socialist and racial Nationalist should bear in mind is that it would not take much for the 'democratic' state in the UK to move towards using these measures against us today.

'Cruel Britannia' records that in 1940, the state security services rounded up Sir Oswald Mosley and members of the British Union of Fascists, members of the Imperial Fascist League and members and associates of a number of fringe organisations under the notorious Defence Regulation 18b. These men and women were arrested and detained without trial, not only that, but this book also reveals that ill-treatment, harsh conditions, starvation diets, and mental and physical torture was used against some 18b detainees.

Harsher still was the treatment of captured German prisoners of war, especially those die-hard National Socialists who had the misfortune to be sent for prolonged interrogation at the infamous, and highly secretive 'London Cage'.

Worse still was to be the fate of those detained and interrogated at the 'facility' at Bad Nenndorf after Germany's surrender in 1945. Prisoners were murdered there by British interrogators, others died of malnutrition and lack of medical care. All carefully covered up, documents hidden or destroyed, officially denied by government insiders and civil servants.

Broadsword readers will not be surprised to read that this is pretty much the same today. Consider the denials of Labour Prime Minister Tony Blair and his Foreign Secretary Jack Straw about torture in Iraq and 'extraordinary rendition'.

FORGOTTEN WARRIORS

THE BRITISH FREE CORPS

The British Volunteers in the Waffen-SS

Part 2 of a Broadsword series

By DS 88

The leadership of the British Freecorps is shrouded in mystery. Amery himself soon resigned from the Corps as he wanted the volunteers to wear British uniforms, but the SS insisted on the wearing of SS uniforms with British insignia, (Union Jack armshields and the three lions collar patch). John Amery moved to Italy where he became an advisor to Mussolini. SS Hauptsturmführer Hans Roepke then took over command. He was replaced in November 1944 by SS Obersturmführer Dr. Kuehlich. By 1945, a 'Captain Webster', a British Army officer was also involved in the leadership of the unit.

By Spring 1945 the BFC were sent to Steinhoeft where the III SS (Germanic) Panzer Corps headquarters was situated, under the leadership of Obergruppenführer Felix Steiner, where the BFC volunteers were assigned to the SS Nordland Division. I was within this division that many of them saw action in the defence of Berlin, although some British volunteers saw active service with the SS Leibstandarte. Many writers hostile to the BFC claim that its members never saw active service, this however is not the case. Reproduced below in full is a letter from an Anthony Byers of Effingham, Surrey, that was printed in a national newspaper some years ago, (possibly the 'Daily Express').

The author would like to add that he does not know Mr Byers, knows nothing of his political leanings, if any, and only mentions his letter as it is relevant to this article. The letter reads: -

"Antony Beevor, author of 'Inside Hitler's Concrete Tomb,' last week, mentions the foreign SS troops who helped defend Berlin. Among them were soldiers of the British Free Corps who were released from POW camps in return for donning German SS uniforms, with the understanding they would not be asked to fight their own countrymen. As a National Serviceman in Berlin, I met a Russian officer who was impressed by the fighting spirit of eight misguided British soldiers. They held up an entire Russian regiment for almost two days until they ran out of ammunition. Only two survived to surrender and were promptly shot by the understandably irritated Russians, who had lost almost 100 men and three tanks.

The Russian officer said that had SS Unterscharführer Cornfield and a soldier he named as Plead been fighting Germans, they would have deserved the VC. He told me. "I hope you British invented a good story for their families, for a brave soldier is still a brave soldier, even when a traitor to his country."

The American military history magazine. 'Siegrunen' issue 63, has this to say of Reginald Leslie Cornfield. "Reginald Cornfield is thought to be the only BFC member to have been killed in action. On 27 April 1945, during the battle for Berlin, Cornfield disabled a Soviet tank with a panzerfaust. The tank crew then tracked him down and shot him. Due to his unusual BFC uniform, his Soldbuch (identity book) was taken by a Russian officer. Nothing is recorded of 'Plead'.

John Amery's book 'England and Europe' was distributed to British POW's from 21 April 1943 in the hope that they would join the 'Legion of St. George'. The book is vehemently anti-communist and details things such as what happens to the general population of countries when communism takes over; who instigated the war, and who was likely to profit from such a war, and also warns that Britain would lose her empire to the benefit of both Russia and the USA.

One of the first to volunteer was a 'Frank Wood' (many BFC members used pseudonyms) who drafted a recruitment leaflet for the BFC, which was dropped by the Luftwaffe to British front line troops fighting in Italy. It is often stated erroneously, that this leaflet was distributed to British POW's.

The leaflet reads as follows:-

'Fellow Countrymen !'

We of the British Free Corps are fighting for YOU!
We are fighting with the best of Europe's youth to preserve our European civilisation and our common cultural heritage from the menace of Jewish Communism.

MAKE NO MISTAKE ABOUT IT!

Europe includes England. Should Soviet Russia ever overcome Germany and other European countries fighting with her, nothing on this earth would save the Continent from Communism, and our own country would inevitably sooner or later succumb.

We are British. We love England and all it stands for. Most of us have fought on the battlefields of France, of Libya, Greece or Italy, and many of our best comrades in arms are lying there - sacrificed in this war of Jewish revenge. We felt then we were being lied to and betrayed. Now we know it for certain.

This conflict between England and Germany is racial SUICIDE. We must UNITE and take up arms against this common enemy. We ask you to come into our ranks and fight shoulder to shoulder with us for Europe and for England.

The Ideological Roots of 21st Century National Socialism

The Ideological Roots of Modern National Socialism are to be Found

The Germanic-SS Developed the Concept of a Pan-European National Socialist Movement Which Embraced All European Nations.
Those ideals Spread Beyond 1945 and Evolved Into the Form of National Socialism Advocated by British Movement Today.

WINTER SOLSTICE 2012 - A fiery Sunwheel is raised above a Solstice fire at a British Movement festive gathering.

The preservation and the celebration of such ancient Aryan British festivals and ceremonies has to be a cornerstone of building a credible and popular National Socialist alternative culture.

"The Deepest Instinct is Self - Preservation - Preservation of the Folk, of the Race.
The Entire Trend of Modern, Multi-Cultural Thinking is to Curtail This Instinct, Overpower it, Subdue it."

Colin Jordan

It is a sad reflection of modern British society, indeed society across Europe and the White world, that the spiritual and psychological connection between our people and the natural world has been overpowered by materialism, consumer culture, metropolitan living and electronic/digital communication and entertainment.

Even within small towns and villages the power of those forces detaches our Folk from their roots and their folk traditions. Sadly those who do cling to the remnants of our ancestral Aryan culture are too often those who are politically disconnected from the politics of race, or at the very worst are of Left-wing political inclinations.

If a credible National Socialist alternative is to be built in Britain, we, as National Socialist activists, need to provide a means for our people to retrace those connections, to re-discover what the mass market has hidden from them and de-cried as being valueless, dated or 'uncool'.

It is because only those with true Aryan roots can identify with those traditions, those festivals and the Blood and Soil of our countryside and wildplaces, that the internationalists and multi-culturalists seek to lead our people away from them. It is because the waves of immigrants and non-white colonisers, the non-Aryan forces of multi-culturalism cannot identify with, and have no regard for those aspects of British life. They do not understand our traditions, they cannot hope to share in our heritage, they have no spiritual ties to our folklore or our countryside.

How could they?

Our history and our festivals mean nothing to them, other than passing amusement or an opportunity to cash in and make some money.

Sikh shop-keepers in Edinburgh wearing tartan turbans during the Edinburgh Festival does not make them Highlanders, much less Scotsmen.
A Jewish historian might find an academic interest in the impact of the Industrial Revolution on the working people of Northern England, or express sympathy with those Scots dispossessed in the Highland Clearances, but he has no direct folk connection to those people or those events.

The South Downs and the Weald mean absolutely nothing to the recently arrived Afghan or Somali asylum-seeker.

Our people must not be allowed to fall into that same 'One-World' mind-set.

Forgotten Warriors : - The British Free Corps.

A number of colourful characters were to join. Two worthy of mention are Thomas Mellor Cooper and Eric Pleasants. Thomas Mellor Cooper had an English father and a German mother, and had joined the SS in 1938. He was wounded in combat serving in the SS Leibstandarte Adolf Hitler on the Russian front, and was decorated with the wound badge in black. After the war he was sentenced to death by a British military tribunal, although he was reprieved in 1946 when the court took into account his German mother. He served a prison sentence until 1953 when he was released (unrepentant) and it is thought that he became a foreign language instructor in the Far East.

Eric Pleasants was born in Norfolk in 1911, he was a member of the British Union of Fascists and a professional wrestler. When Britain declared war on Germany, he became a pacifist and was sent to Jersey. He was interned by the Germans when they occupied Jersey and it was then that he volunteered for the BFC. Pleasants was stationed in Dresden, where he married a German woman. He also boxed for the BFC in tournaments with other SS units, and even claimed to be the middleweight boxing champion of the Waffen SS. Pleasants was involved in hand to hand fighting against the Russians in the defence of Berlin. At the end of the war he escaped to the American lines. When the Russians took control of that section of the American zone, he was sent to a slave labour camp in Vorkuta, Siberia where he spent seven years. Pleasants eventually returned to his native Norfolk where he died in 1997.

The survivors of the BFC faced an uncertain future at the end of the war. Many donned British POW clothing in an attempt to pass themselves off as escaped POW's. This worked for some and they returned to Britain. Others were handed over to the British Military Police. Many were sentenced to anything from a few months to fifteen years in prison for their involvement with the BFC.

The BFC founder, John Amery, was arrested in Italy and despite having taken Spanish citizenship prior to the outbreak of war, was hanged for treason in Wandsworth Prison on December 19th 1945. A similar fate also befell William Joyce, who, amongst other things, gave speeches to British POW's in the hope that they would join the BFC. Despite being born in New York in 1906 to Irish parents, he was also found guilty of treason and hanged. The problem for the British volunteers of the BFC was that unlike the other European volunteers in the SS, Britain was still at war with Germany, whereas the other European countries had surrendered to Germany, or were fighting on the side of Germany. In fact the legality of the BFC was something that worried the German High Command right from the Corps inception.

That these British volunteers were found guilty of treason, despite having never taken up arms against their fellow countrymen, is surely a travesty of justice; especially when one considers the traitorous actions being rubber-stamped by the current puppet incumbents at Westminster. The British authorities at the time were quick to pass judgement on BFC members without even considering their own treasonous actions in instigating a European brothers war. As early as 1941, after Japan entered the war, the Fuhrer told Walther Hewel, one of his staff members, "Strange, that we are destroying the positions of the White race in East Asia with the help of Japan, while Britain has joined the Bolshevik swine in the fight against Europe !"

GLOBAL POPULATION GROWTH GENERATES THIRD WORLD IMMIGRATION A THREAT TO OUR NATION - A THREAT TO ALL BRITAIN'S RESOURCES

As a National Socialist organisation that has contacts worldwide, we have to constantly keep one eye focused on world events and 'global sustainability' is now a key issue. This directly reflects on an ever expanding global population, particularly in the Third World countries and the pressures that creates.

As a British NS organisation we have to recognise and target the concerns of our people and consider the 'sustainability' of the British Isles.

The towns and cities of the UK are expanding ever outwards, and the need for new, 'affordable' houses is increasing week after week. One serious impact of this is the trend for building new houses and housing estates on greenbelt land. Our greenbelt land is an important oasis of natural breathing space for the British people, it is land where both people and the land can breathe. It is an important part of Britain's eco-system.

The damage done to Britain's eco-system includes the damage done to us as a species, not many people realise that. Building on agricultural land and green spaces not only decreases the availability of land for farmers to produce Britain's food, but also destroys the environment, wiping out wildlife from the level of insects upwards, upsetting the balance of nature. It is like concreting over a garden, it permanently removes the green space and erases any natural elements. Immigration into Britain is forcing the pace of house-building, an ever growing population is increasing the demand to build and expand the towns and cities, especially London. The big businesses who profit from building housing estates and new roads are greedy for land, because building houses and roads makes big profits. The big name developers would cover the whole country in concrete and tarmac if they could get away with it. The environment and countryside counts for nothing if there is a profit to be made. Immigrants do not care if British fields and woodlands are bulldozed to make space for new housing and roads, they just want to settle here, and take advantage of houses, jobs, education and social welfare.

The political Left don't care either; in an article written in the Marxist newspaper, 'Socialist Worker' in which it discussed a recent BBC murder-mystery series called, "Mayday", the Left-wing writer stated that, "the moral portrayed in the programme is, 'live in the cities not the countryside'".

The Left have no time for village communities or rural villages, they consider rural Britain to be 'conservative' and 'racist'.

The Left see the countryside only as a means for providing food for the urban populations, collective farms mass producing crops, a resource to be exploited.

Overpopulation in the Third World drives a global exodus of its surplus populations and they look towards Britain and western Europe.

We cannot sustain our way of life if we continue to absorb hundreds of thousands of immigrants.

Immigration control is essential; closing the borders today and beginning repatriation of non-indigenous people to their lands of origin would start to take the pressure off all Britain's resources.

Overpopulation and overcrowding of Britain's cities creates social tensions, creates pressure on jobs, schools, health and social services and pushes up unemployment. It is like placing animals in crowded cages with a limited food supply.

Our public services will break down under the strain, drinking water supplies to major urban centres will become unsustainable, housing and school places will be stretched to breaking point.

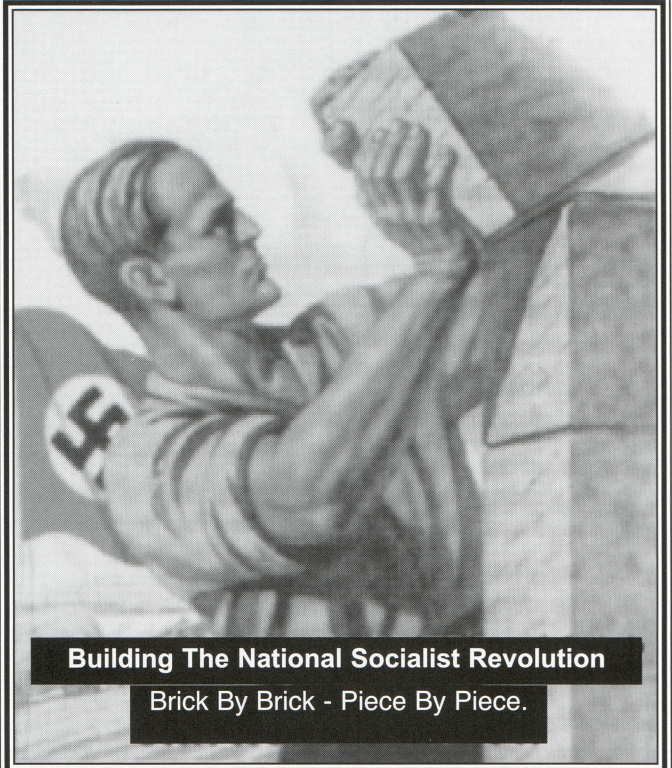

A ticking timebomb for riots and serious social unrest and disorder.

BUILDING AN N.S. FUTURE

The creation of a National Socialist state in Great Britain is the ultimate goal of British Movement, and in order to achieve the creation of a National Socialist 'New Order' in the UK, we must first create the political conditions by which this situation can be realised.

This will be a long and difficult struggle, but it can be done and for the future of our people it must be done. We must right the wrongs inflicted upon our people in the name of multi-racialism and multi-culturalism, we must regain the birth-right of our people taken from them by stealth and the lies of democratic politicians and Left-wing ideologists. So-called progressive thinkers and opinion makers who have corrupted our nation's psyche.

Building The National Socialist Revolution

Brick By Brick - Piece By Piece.

We Will Have Our Country Back!

We Have To Challenge the Way the British People Think
If National Socialism is to Triumph - We Have To Show Them A New Way of Thinking

This column has often stated the British Movement position that as National Socialists we have to step outside the system and guide and educate the British people towards a new way of thinking and living.

British Movement does not at present involve itself in the election system in the UK, neither at a local, municipal nor parliamentary level. The reason for this is that the current electoral system is a rigged game, structured in favour of the major political parties, with inbuilt safety measures to ensure that the 'Big Three' (Labour, Conservative, Liberal Democrat) are always there in a dominant position and that any smaller parties are permanently restricted to the fringes.

Scottish and Welsh Nationalist parties are allowed to function as part of the wider remit as they will never be in a position to take over at Westminster; the parties of Ulster are in a similar position. British Movement believes that the present political structure of the British government is part of the whirlpool that draws the people in and drags them down into the vortex of decline and dissolution that is taking our nation to destruction.

The remedy to this system has to come from the outside, it cannot be changed from within because the system is structured to prevent this from happening and involvement with the system not only contaminates an opposition organisation, but distracts it from developing alternatives and consumes all its finances and other resources. The National Socialist alternative has to develop as an extra-parliamentary, grassroots organisation, building up a mass structure outside the electoral system, but building up a functioning viable alternative, providing its membership and supporters with information, entertainment, social welfare support, eventually education, housing and paid employment in Movement owned and controlled businesses.

The British National Socialist Movement has to become not just a life-line for our Folk but the life-boat as well.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

The views and opinions expressed on this page represent the views of our readers and their publication does not indicate support or endorsement of those opinions or adoption as official British Movement policy.

Dear Broadsword,

Some years ago I heckled the Labour Party on a demo' through Glasgow. I was dressed up in fake House of Lords gear; red ermine cloak with white collar etc. and a cardboard crown.

I shouted out, "Join the Labour Party and get yourself a seat in the House of Lords!"

They went wild with rage and so were the police, one Superintendent came behind me and shoved me with all his strength. Two men come bursting out of the crowd towards me and I realised it was a fit-up. They were going to arrest me.

So I ran through the lines of marchers and they did not follow after me; but I think that the heavy shove upset the backbones of my spine. It became more and more painful, until now I cannot walk without the aid of elbow crutches. The pain goes down my legs to my feet, and it seems to come from my spine, it's a sort of numbness.

The cops (police) are not our friends. They don't think that we should have the liberty to protest. They think we should sit like mutes and accept all the indignities on our heads, by our hypocritical, luxury-loving politicians. They know that working-class men have no political clout and they can mess us about without any recriminations.

Besides their media calls us "nazis", "fascists" and 'racists'; racism is the new European 'witch-craze'. Anti-racists run around and act like the old Witch-finder General of yesteryear.

A BLAST FROM THE PAST

Remembering British Movement in the 1980's !

Dear BM,

I thought you might like to see my 30 plus years old BM tattoo from my teenage skinhead days.

'Contrary to what some left-wing writers have put in print, a BM Phoenix & White Power motto was never compulsory in those days-nice to see your ink is still clear.'

Dear Broadsword,

I was very pleased to receive the latest issue of Broadsword. Another excellent issue, with many interesting, informative and thought-provoking articles and letters. I particularly enjoy reading a journal that is uncompromising and hardline N.S.

The article 'Passing On the Baton' is an excellent reminder to all British National Socialists and racial Nationalists of the great debt we owe to Arnold Leese and Colin Jordan as the spiritual founders of British National Socialism.

They must never be forgotten !

Dear Broadsword,

Re: Your recent articles on Rudolf Hess and other MI5 related conspiracy articles; Did you know that the Tory MP Airey Neave knew about MI5's infiltration by foreign agents?

Airey Neave was murdered in 1979 by the INLA (Irish National Liberation Army) after heading a petition to demand the freedom of Rudolf Hess from Spandau Prison Berlin. (Hess was murdered by the Allies in 1987)

Enoch Powell MP claimed that the RUC (Royal Ulster Constabulary) had evidence to suggest that the CIA was behind the murder of Airey Neave and not the INLA, who had claimed responsibility for Neave's assassination.

Dear Broadsword,

I enclose a cutting from the Daily Telegraph, something you might have seen, but here it is, just in case, as it is really the sort of item that we would never have seen a few years ago - but to realise this is happening here in 'Our Britain' today.

It's more of a shock to we old codgers who can remember the country in the 1930's and '40's, and even worse when we realise how little we can do about it, and how it will continue to deteriorate. Here it's not so much the influx of Asians, who open shops, but we get the Chinese pouring in. First they arrive as students at the 'Uni', but also bring in wives, children and families, who settle down and stay - our local shopping centre is now nearly all Chinese.

Keep the flag flying.

THE HORSEMEAT NOT BEEF FOOD SCANDAL

- One of the Benefits of Being Part of the European Union They Didn't Tell You About-

The great horse-meat instead of beef scandal has revealed a great deal about the way the EU operates; not monitoring meat production, creating a massive web of traders and dealers who are only interested in money and contracts, and profiteering international companies who mass produce so -called 'ready meals'.

An appeal for 'buying British' by the NFU - the National Farmers Union - but will EU regulations allow it ?

THE RE-BURIAL OF THE REMAINS OF KING RICHARD III

There is some controversy about where the recently excavated bones of King Richard III should be finally laid to rest.

The City of Leicester demands that the remains should be interred in Leicester, since the skeleton was found under a car park in the city and it was to Leicester that the King's body was taken after his death at the Battle of Bosworth in the 15th Century.

However, the city of York now demands that as the last king of the House of York, the bones should be interred, with due ceremony at York Minister.

The obvious question that has not been asked is, that although the University of Leicester and the cathedral want the remains to stay in Leicester, what does this mean to the average citizen of Leicester?

After all, although there is a sizeable White British population in Leicester who would recognise and appreciate the burial in their city of the last Plantaganet king of England. The majority of the population of Leicester hails from the Indian sub-continent and therefore have neither the heritage nor the historical connection to Richard III. Moreover, Broadsword suspects that the majority of this ethnic majority population will not have a clue as to who King Richard III actually was, much less appreciate the importance of his discovery and future burial.

A word of thanks is due to the good people at Blood and Honour who designed the above poster and put it out on the inter-net.

This was the first British Movement meeting of the year and the gig was held to kick-start the fund raising for the revived British Movement Land Project.

Many thanks to all concerned.
